ECW Educators Festival

The ECW Educator's Festival is a unique one of a kind learning and development event for Educators. The Educator's Festival is a fun social, interactive, participatory professional learning event for Educators. There is no sitting and listening to speaker after speaker resulting in lots of notes and little recollection of the content or any actions for future planning.

At the Educator's Festival you start when you want to and leave when you want to leave. Spend a few hours or make a day of it. Enjoy a relaxed day of professional learning, engaging in a range of hands on practical education and learning experiences at your leisure. You will enjoy a relaxed day connecting with a range of organisations and presenters to seek information about resources and information about quality practice, browse the trades, participate in a Presentation, enjoy a coffee or some lunch with colleagues and discuss what you have seen or heard. Hang around for the closing keynote to hear from Nathan Wallis renowned Neuroscience Educator.
